

Celebrating 60 Years – Reflect, Rest, Renew

INTENTIONAL FAMILY LEGACY: A WORKSHOP FOR COUPLES

HOSTED BY: DENNIS BRANCONIER

“What we leave in our children should concern us more than what we leave to our children”

The modern understanding of estate planning as “the orderly disposition of assets upon death” is a result of such planning, but not the purpose. The true purpose is to make an orderly declaration of what you stand for.

This workshop is meant to help you integrate your most treasured values into your most enduring decisions.

In what ways will you effectively communicate your legacy intentions to your heirs?

How can you do so in a way that conveys your faith, your hope and your love?

In a guided format, you will be encouraged to privately draw from your own spiritual maturity to lead to practical action. There is no technical, legal, financial, or product material involved.

Having retired from a 35-year career in financial and estate planning, Dennis has turned his attention to addressing family legacy decisions that typically go untouched by technical professional advisors. He holds a master’s degree in counseling psychology.
